Anatomy in Motion

Before your first appointment

In your assessment I will ask you about your problems, before your appointment, it is useful to think about everything that is bothering you and also how you would like your treatment to help you.

I will also ask you about your medical history, previous injuries, surgery and any medication you are taking. It sometimes helps to make a list about this before your appointment. If possible try to remember all the injuries you have had, even as a child, and roughly when they happened. They may not seem relevant or important but for example, a sprained ankle years ago may have changed how you move and walk even when it stopped being painful.

If you have any relevant x-ray/scan reports or test results you may want to bring those with you.

What to wear

While I am assessing your body it helps to be able to see your posture and how your whole body moves. Therefore, it helps if you wear close- rather than loose-fitting clothing or bring a pair of shorts and a vest/bra top. Also make sure that you wear or bring clothing that you feel comfortable to move and exercise in. Your personal comfort and preferences will be respected at all times.
